

The Legacy of poverty, Marginalization and Underdevelopment in Balochistan

:Historical ,Political and Social Factors

“ Nations began to decline when their decisions structure becomes brittle and interest group or oligarchies prevent social economic change.”

Manchoslan

Intonation Economist,1998

Dr.Musarrat Jabeen (LEAD FELLOW)

Abstract:

The process of marginalization symphonizes poverty and underdevelopment Economic development entails the laxation of an area in international system as economic advantage defines the pursuit of nation state system. The economic development can not be cherished without a match with the social political capital of relevant area. This paper narrates the story of marginalization of Balochi in excess by burgeon regional and international economic interests. The study is significant to flash balochistan in politics of international economic system. In globalized world the area has to be interjected with national and international imperatives of economic conflict leads to propose 3.D strategy for management of economic development includes.

Keywords:

1. Marginalization
2. Conflict

1.Introduction:

Legacy evolves with the passage of time depending upon the genesis of legatee and the interests of other linked entities .The prevalent economic legacy effects the economic development as it becomes the base of any economic edifice. The legacy of economic development is anthropological phenomenon which descends upon heirs of particular territory linked to historical , political , and social factors.

This study is significant to highlight the legacy of marginalization in Balochistan comprised of poverty and underdevelopment as the economic growth¹ has remained nominal . It is the third millennium that Balochistan has secured such a status amplified by economic opportunities whiten and around Balochistan because of foreign investment and interests. It has become the hub of foreign investment because of its geo-economic location which has expedited the conflict trends in Balochitan with two dimension one is that socio-political structure in Balochistan has taken up violence as means to obstruct economic change and two is highness of power structure